THE NEW-CHURCH REVIEW.

THE doctrines given to the world in the theological writings of EMANUEL SWEDENBORG are of the loftiest and broadest scope, dealing with the subjects of the Divine Being, His Incarnation in the person of our Lord Jesus Christ, the Glorification of His Human, His Second Coming by the opening of the internal sense of His Word, the spiritual nature of man and the order of his creation and regeneration, the spiritual world as man's eternal abode and as the world of causes from which all things in nature come forth as effects, the correspondence therefore of the two worlds with each other in general and in each particular, the universality of the Divine Providence and its relation to permitted evils, the heavenly nature of marriage, and the relation of gentile religions to Christianity.

Under the Divine Providence the world, as we believe, has thus been furnished with a revelation of truth drawn from the Divine Word which, as it comes gradually to be received in heart and mind and life, will accomplish the fulfilment of prophecy and restore the Lord's kingdom upon the earth.

THE REVIEW will seek to give some expression to this truth and to bring its light to bear not only on events within the organization of the New Church, but on matters of general interest. It will stand ready to recognize whatever is hopeful and progressive in the religious world and in the fields of literature and science.

THE REVIEW has been placed in the hands of a board of editors, consisting of the Rev. Theodore F. Wright, Ph.D., who will have general charge, the Rev. James Reed, the Rev. Samuel M. Warren, and the Rev. Julian K. Smyth.
